Studies have shown that a child with access to proper nutrition, safe shelter, and a means of creative expression will show increases in brain development, motor skills, critical thinking, and decision-making abilities. By feeding them on a holistic level – mind, body, and soul – Feed The Body, Feed The Soul will create a generation of well-rounded individuals and leaders with a sense of value and purpose. Throughout the weekend, music and the arts will inspire individuals to join together to give back to their community by donating their time, talent, and financial support to help knock out hunger in Northeastern Wisconsin.
