

CALL FOR PRESENTERS: UNDERSTANDING TREATIES AND TREATY MAKING

Queen's University presents the 20th Annual Indigenous Knowledge Symposium
November 9 & 10, 2018 in Kingston, ON

Please join us as we celebrate Treaty Recognition Week. The discussions during this event will focus on acquiring an understanding of treaties and treaty making. We invite you to share your knowledge to encourage a greater understanding of the misconceptions surrounding treaties and to better understand how to appropriately honour existing Treaties.

The symposium will be conducted with respect for Indigenous protocols. Sessions will be moderated with a talking stick and guidance will be provided by Elders.

Themes may include but are not limited to:

- Honouring treaties
- Identity and land
- Working with Indigenous communities
- Land sales and claims
- Treaty negotiations and implementation
- Historic and modern treaties
